

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention is a system for assisting a manager of a sporting event or sporting facility in scheduling and managing the event or facility. The invention aids in scheduling league or tournament play and creates a website for helping registration, disseminating league or facility schedules or other information, keeping track of ongoing statistics, and adjusting schedules after the season or tournament starts.

00905627-071301